

Champion Office Suites to the Rescue for LIRR Commuters

Garden City, New York, August 24, 2010

Champion Office Suites of Garden City, New York is coming to the rescue of Long Island Railroad commuters who are facing delays and massive inconveniences with the continuing service disruption on the LIRR. Champion Office Suites is offering frazzled commuters the ability to use its offices and conference rooms on an hourly or daily basis and waiving its normal membership fee requirements.

“I remember commuting into the City during service disruptions,” said owner Roger Kahn. “It is a major hassle and a big time-waster. I would have been much more efficient and effective had I been able to use local office space and avoid the commuting nightmare during the service disruption. I am happy to be able to offer commuters the solution that wasn’t available back when I was dealing with the headache.”

For the duration of the service disruption, people who normally commute into the City can reserve offices and conference rooms at Champion Office Suite’s Garden City facility and not have to worry about the usual membership fee.

Champion Office Suites is Long Island’s most honored virtual office, executive suite and ready-office facility. Located in the heart of Garden City, seconds from the New York State Courts, the Mineola county seat, and shops and restaurants of the legal and financial center of Long Island. Champion Office Suites offers a full complement of offices and conference rooms available by the hour, the day, the week, or the month.

Combined with their live telephone reception service and on-site administrative assistance, Champion Office Suites provides its clients the image, support, and resources of traditional office space for just a small fraction of the cost.
